County Board Figures Boosted But Final Assessment Less Than Last Year

The state board of equalization has made a decrease of 10.5 per cent on all real property. The decrease on farm lands alone is 11 per cent, being greater than the average. A comparison of assessment of real property in the state for the years 1920 and 1921 follows:

Farm lands	$1,035,771,510	$921,796,673
Town and city lots	49,205,325	45,047,331

Assessed residences	9,904,452	8,516,776
	$1,159,798,822	$1,037,556,314

Increases in Burleigh.

Increases in the assessment of Burleigh county property have been made by the state board of equalization. The valuation of the county for taxation will, however, according to County Auditor Frank Johnson be less than last year. Exact comparative figures are not yet available.

The changes made by the state board follow:

Farm lands exclusive of structures and improvements—increased 10 per cent.

City, town and village lots exclusive of structures and improvements—increased 5 per cent.

Structures and improvements on city, town and village lots used for business purposes—increased 20 per cent.

Structures and improvements on city, town and village lots used as a home occupied by owner—no change.

Structures and improvements on city improvements on city, town and village lots not used as a place of residence by the owner—no change.

WAITING FOR "DIVINE MOTHER"

A. Houghton Pratt and Madame Parma, whose teachings and interpretations of the occult were followed by his giving up all most men cherish, to prepare for a world cataclysm.

GIVES UP ALL FOR CREED!

A. Houghton Pratt Tells Why Madame Parma's Teachings Transformed Him

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Sept. 2.—If you were wealthy, of enviable social and cultural position, exclusive clubman, member of a big publishing firm, married to a rich wife, would you give it all up to slave for a mystic idealism?

A. Houghton Pratt says you would if only you understood!

He has done so, and in the Sanctuary of the Divine Mother, the home of the Life Religion at Atlantic Highlands, he told me of the coming cataclysm about to engulf the world. Here he is preparing himself to meet it—a modern Noah.

"It is no mere social upheaval, world-wide war or revolution, but a real cataclysm like the great Deluge," said Pratt. "God has told me the rushing of water, the trembling of the earth, will mark the new upheaval which is very near at hand."

"No, it is not the end of the earth—not at all. It might be said to be the beginning."

Madame Parma

On a couch by Pratt's side, clad in a white satin robe embroidered in mystic symbols, was Mme. Parma, the teacher who introduced him into the mystic revelations which now guide his life. She is a beautiful young woman, who was a student of Rodin, the sculptor.

Since the revelations Pratt's wife has divorced him. His mother—all his family—have been estranged from him.

"These two are nothing compared to the greater ones," said Pratt. "If you are willing to trust to the Supreme, even when you don't know where your next meal is coming from, you have reached the highest."

Woman's Era

"The new era, which will follow the readjustment after the cataclysm, will be the woman's era. And the great fight will be against accepting the Mother God, the Divine Mother."

Even now the signs of the Divine Mother's approach to the earth for judgment may be seen in woman's awakening and emancipation.

"God is both male and female. Heretofore man has refused to recognize the woman element in the divine. But she is THE great element."

Pratt's Altar

Before the artistic Pratt bungalow, which is an aesthetic's dream of exquisite color and line, stretches the garden toward the sea. In the foreground is a Korean altar, with a lion and palm tree. "We found it at Vanities," explained Pratt. "We found it at Vanities," but it had been waiting for us through the ages—just as this spot, the most desirable location so near New York, was passed by until we were guided here.

"It was professional thousands of years ago that we would make it the sanctuary of the Divine Mother, the temple of the Life Religion. Why, this promontory here is part of the submerged Atlantis!"

"Our religion is a happy religion. It is a beautiful religion. One desires to be expressed only through beauty. And what a sense of it, but the Divine Mother has!"

"She has appeared to me through Mme. Parma but other through many messages."

Deeply Sincere

Pratt and Mme. Parma say they believe in a recognizable God. Pratt has killed many airplanes, was wrecked near Indian Head, Maryland.

COUNTY AGENTS HOLD MEETING IN CITY TODAY

Relationship to Farm Bureau Organizations is Subject of Discussion

U. S. OFFICIAL HERE

"Better Sires" Campaign of the Extension Division of A. C. Outlined

Relationship of the county agent to the county, state and national farm bureau organizations was discussed at considerable length at a conference of county agents from western North Dakota which opened at the McKenzie hotel in Bismarck this morning and will continue until this evening.

C. B. Smith of Washington, D. C., director of the States Relations Service north and west, gave a summary of the history of county agent and farm bureau work and gave an outline of what territory the county agent should cover. Primarily, he declared, the county agent should confine himself to educational activities, should place all available information before the farmers on any subject in which they may be interested and should encourage the farmers themselves to take charge of organization work, financing, and the other phases of active management of any enterprise into which they may wish to enter, such as wheat marketing, livestock shipping, pooling of wool, or engaging in merchandising propositions.

"Seed Corn Week"

Director G. W. Randley of the Extension division gave the agents some instructions and advice regarding "Seed Corn Week" to be observed next week, Sept. 5 to 12, telling them that the purpose of the campaign was to get the farmers to select a sufficient supply of ears in the field and properly store them so that they will be assured of seed corn at least for the next two years. He called attention to the campaign to get one thousand North Dakota farmers to attend the National Dairy show at St. Paul, Oct. 8 to 15. The purpose of this campaign, he said, was to give the farmers information and inspiration to get into the dairy game, rather than to devote their exclusive time to wheat.

Rex Willard, farm economist of the Agricultural College, announced that a series of 15 to 20 cost estimating schools will be held in many communities this fall at which the farmers will be queried and shown how to calculate the cost of production of their 1921 crop. The purpose of these meetings, he said, was to interest the farmers in the various phases of farm accounts and to secure supporting testimony for other cost of production data.

G. P. Wolf, assistant county agent leader, opened the afternoon session with a tentative program of work for southwestern North Dakota county agents, and it is planned to adopt a program before the session closes tonight. Max Morgan, dairy co. specialist of the Extension Division, was scheduled to outline the organization of dairy co. companies and the Better Sires campaign this afternoon.

Discusses Agreement

John W. Haw, county agent leader, discussed at some length a memorandum of agreement which has been adopted by the North Dakota Farm Bureau Federation and the state extension division regarding the state and county activities of the two organizations. Mr. Haw is presiding at the meeting.

Others in attendance include Secretary Ralph Andrews of the Extension division; N. D. Goran, assistant county agent leader; F. E. Singleton, of Washington, D. C., chief accountant of the States Relations Service; Miss Charlotte M. Blister, county home and girls' club leader of Mott, S. D.; Sidney W. Hooper of the publicity department of the Extension division, and County Agents G. H. Use of Mandan, A. L. Norling of Washburn, R. S. Goodhue of Jamestown, C. C. Lake of Carrington, J. C. Russell of Beach, R. C. Newcomer of Carson, C. C. Poe of Beulah, H. O. Sauer, of Linton, and Charles Eastgate, of Amidon.

ONE CONTINUAL ROAR SAYS COURIER OF BATTLE RAGING IN WEST VIRGINIA

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—After a morning of uncertainty, in which reports from Spruce Fork ridge had told of sporadic fighting since daybreak it was officially announced at noon that "heavy firing" was taking place at Blair Mountain, Mill Creek and Crooked Creek.

Col. Eubanks said that one Logan man had been wounded on Blair mountain and that five of the opposing forces had been seen to fall.

Airplanes reconnoitering over Boone county east of the ridge reported increased activities among the bands which had assembled here while a courier from "the front" said it was "one continual roar along the entire line."

These reports, which had the entire sanction of the civil and military commanders here indicated the heaviest fighting since the line was established along Spruce Fork ridge and efforts were made by Logan county authorities to stop what they termed the "invasion" of their county.

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Widely circulated reports that all was not going well for the defenders at the front were set at rest when Sheriff Bill Hatfield came in from Crooked Creek with the statement that lines were holding. Col. Eubanks has been notified that a force of federal troops should reach Logan by 6 p. m.

Issuance of Order For Entrainment Follows Report From General Bandholtz

MOVE FROM FOUR POSTS

Armed Bands Refuse to Obey President Harding's Proclamation to Disperse

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 2.—Brigadier-General H. H. Bandholtz hurried himself today working out the details of placing incoming federal troops at strategic positions.

"We are going right in and swamp the disorderly elements," said a high military authority today.

According to General Bandholtz troops from Camp Sherman are expected during the day while those from New Jersey will not arrive until tomorrow morning probably.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Federal troops from four troops numbering approximately 4,000 were at noon today either enroute or in readiness to move to West Virginia to enforce the decision of the federal government to restore order.

Secretary Weeks was optimistic expressing belief that as soon as federal troops reached the disturbed area the armed bands would voluntarily disband.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Orders for immediate entrainment of troops for West Virginia were issued early today by Major General Harbord, assistant chief of staff.

Action was postponed, however, on the question of declaring martial law pending conferences between Secretary Weeks and other government officials.

The orders were issued as a result of a telegram from Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, who was sent by Secretary Weeks to report on the situation and particularly whether the strikers would accede to President Harding's command that they disperse.

General Bandholtz at midnight last night recommended that troops be sent at once.

Troops Move Immediately

The troops which will move immediately are the 26th and 16th infantry at Camp Dix, N. J. and the 19th infantry at Camp Sherman O. Others can be rushed to the scene if necessary from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana and Camp Knox, near Louisville, Ky. General Bandholtz will assume command of the forces upon their arrival. ENGLISH GO TO COURTS LESS THAN AMERICANS

Cincinnati, Sept. 1.—The average Englishman, with all of his proverbial insistence upon his personal rights, calls less often upon his courts for relief than does his American cousin, declared John W. Davis, former ambassador to England, in an address here last night before the American Bar Association in which he gave some random observations on the organization of the legal profession in England and the administration of English justice.

"Who shall come forward with an explanation of this fact, if fact it be?" asked Mr. Davis. "It is a survival of days long gone when justice was not only costly but tardy and uncertain; it is because there exists in England a class of lawyers whose business lies wholly outside the courts and in whose hands many controversies are settled without judicial aid; or is there a reason deeper still in the age-long habit of this island people to respect the law they have made and live their daily lives within its well-marked circle?"

"Startling as it may seem, the litigation of England and Wales is relatively little more than the litigation in our Federal Courts alone; and the vast tide of controversy that flows through our state tribunals may be credited to us as surplus belligerency."

The speaker, after discussing the ranks and orders into which the legal profession in England is divided, declared that "in comparison with the close knit organizations sheltered by the Inns of Court and Law Society, we in America seem so many scattered grains of sand." "It is difficult to make one familiar only with the English atmosphere," he continued, "understand that, in truth, notwithstanding this Association, there is no such body as the American Bar. There are, instead, scattered groups consisting of county, city and state bars, with a Federal bar here and there composed in part of the same members but united by no tie of common origin or discipline."

"A marked spirit of criminal law and procedure," Mr. Davis said, "has been shown in recent years by the legal profession of England. In addition to sweeping changes in the Judicature Acts of 1872, 1874 and 1875," he declared, "justice has been brought nearer to the masses by the enlargement of the common law jurisdiction of the county courts."

"When all comparisons have been made, and all differences recounted," Mr. Davis said in conclusion, "the fact remains that the members of the legal profession in England are in every truth our brethren overseas. The common law by which we live has its roots in English soil. The judges who interpret it on both sides of the water look to their distant colleagues for counsel and assistance, and the principles of liberty which it embodies are the rod and staff by which our peoples walk."

"Trained in the same school, professing the same great ideas, sharers of like immunities and privileges, there rests upon the legal profession in England and America a duty which is joint and not several, common and not divisible. The nations whom they serve stand today supreme in present strength and in potential energy. Upon them Destiny has laid accordingly the largest responsibility for the immediate future of the world. Shall not the lawyers, who lead as well as serve them, guide them in the ways of mutual confidence and joint endeavor in the service of mankind?"

MEMORIES OF MONARCHIAL DAYS FADING AWAY

Honolulu, T. H., Sept. 1.—Fast fading under the ravages of time, the dimming memories of the old Hawaiian monarchy—once so splendid—are being swept rapidly into oblivion by many agencies.

One particularly disastrous day to the vestiges of the old dynasty witnessed many possessions of the late Queen Liliuokalani, last of the native monarchs, pass under the auctioneer's hammer recently and the spectacular destruction by fire that night of the historic Anahau palace, once the residence of princes of the royal blood and also famed as the haunt of Robert Louis Stevenson during his stay in the Hawaiian islands.

The bath-tub of "Queen Lili" brought $37.50. A large bowl, of native design, was sold to an iron-moulder. A tall, spindly shaving stand was sold for ten cents to a Chinese, furniture of Koa, or Hawaiian mahogany, including wardrobes exemplifying high skill in cabinet making, marble-top washstands, hat stands and a piano, brought from less than fifty cents to $60.

The queen's ice-box sold for $15. A large book of views of the city of Sydney, inscribed as "a gift to Her Majesty, Queen Liliuokalani, from the government of New South Wales," and presented just before the fall of the monarchy in 1892, returned $5.50. Many pictures, autographed and sent the late queen by actors and actresses famous thirty years ago, brought varying small sums.

Scarcely three hours after the auction of "Queen Lili's" possessions was completed, it was discovered that the Anahau palace was afire. The frame building, the rendezvous of society during the Kalakaua reign, later served as a hotel for noted guests. The passage of many of Queen Liliuokalani's possessions to private owners and the destruction of the Anahau palace leave few remembrances of the Hawaiian monarchy. Chief of these is the ancient palace, a stone structure—which now is the territorial capitol, and Queen Liliuokalani's smaller residence, which now is the official residence of the territorial governor.

The trouble is, there's more unemployed money than unemployed men. It must have been the undertakers' lobby that put over home brewing.

GERMANY IN BIG BUSINESS DRIVE

Buenos Aires, Sept. 1.—American business in Argentina is at present being battered by a drum-fire of German competition, according to Edward F. Feely, American Commercial Attaché in Buenos Aires.

"In many lines," he says, "we are losing business and from the present outlook it appears that this condition will probably continue for some time as the Germans are able to offer lower prices in a number of cases, when the high rate of the American dollar is taken into consideration."

"However, it may be accepted as a certainty that in the long run Americans need have no great fear of German or other competition. Once a normal balance has been established in international trade, so that the American trader will not be handicapped by the high quotation of the dollar, I am confident that American manufacturers will be able to hold their own with any country."

In such items as machinery, tools, small hardware of all kinds, paper, wire, etc., competition is particularly keen, and the American manufacturer has small chance of getting orders when price alone is the principal consideration.

Bids recently received by the Division of Navigation and Ports of the Ministry of Public Works illustrate the comparison between British, American and German prices. Out of ten items bid on, the Germans were able to undersell their competitors in nine cases and got the business.

In several instances the low German bid was far below the level of the competing bids, indicating that the firms offering the goods were willing to sacrifice profits in order to get business. One such case, says Mr. Feely, showed clear evidence of dumping, the firm making the bid quoting a price equivalent to about $1,000 below the factory price in Germany and not taking into account insurance, freight and other costs of delivery.

Many firms that before the war profited from strong German connections have been making efforts to win back their places in the market. Some of these have gone so far as to help re-finance the German factories so as to be able to get quick deliveries. In one such case a sewing machine agency helped the factory to compete with American sewing machines.

While Germany, however, is able to undersell American merchants in the Argentine market on many items, in at least two ways American manufacturers have a considerable advantage. These are in the matters of quick delivery and credits. At the present time, German manufacturers in most cases are demanding either confirmed credit before acceptance of order or payment in advance.

Among other countries that are making an effort to increase their business in Argentina is Belgium, which is offering steel products, in particular, at attractive rates, but which, like Germany, seemingly is not able to offer adequate credit facilities.

Among the recommendations that are made for strengthening American trade relations in Argentina are the maintenance of local offices under permanent American management and the investment of American capital in the country. It is pointed out that while the high price of the dollar is a disadvantage in selling goods here, it is a decided advantage in making investments.

OLIVE THOMAS AT THE REX

"Youthfully Folly," which was presented at the Rex last night and which will be presented for the last time tonight, is what the film fans pronounce a hundred per cent picture, the charm and mystery of a girl of the Old South, is delightfully portrayed by Olive Thomas. A more wholesome and piquant role never has been assigned this lovely star since she won her way into the hearts of her admirers by her winning characterization. She might have been born south of the Mason and Dixon line, so truly does she reflect the spirit of days when men were bold and rode thoroughbreds as if born in the saddle. The story deals with the adventures in the big world of love and intrigue of a little girl who had grown up on an old plantation way down in Dixie with only the plantation "hands," and three elderly aunts for company. She had always wondered what lay beyond the maple crowned hills of her home. Then one day a lovely butterfly from the North flitted into the peaceful vale and the Southern girl had her chance at love. She found happiness and tears—but mostly happiness—and it all told in a masterly way that is sure to thrill you.

In addition to this big feature Harold Lloyd, Bebe Daniels and Snub Pollard are seen in a short comedy, "The Flirt." Like all Lloyd comedies, it is a laugh from start to finish.

Tomorrow night will be a big amateur night at the Rex, in addition to the amateur contest Blackie Reid and Kid Brown will go three last rounds, in a boxing exhibition. The feature photo play will be "The Blue Moan" and the fourth episode of Ruth Roland in the "Avenging Arrow" will be shown.

BATTLESHIP, ONE OF LARGEST OF U.S., LAUNCHED

New U. S. Washington is Sent Down the Ways at Camden Shipbuilding Plant

CARRIES 1,281 SAILORS

Camden, Sept. 2.—The super dreadnaught Washington, one of the four largest and most powerful battle ships of the U. S. navy, was launched yesterday at the Gloucester plant of the New York shipbuilding corporation.

Bestowal of the name of Washington on the great super dreadnaught will enter on the pages of American naval history the ship to bear that name.

The dreadnaught however will stand out in marked contrast to her predecessors in size and armament. She will have a complement when commissioned of 1,281 officers and 1,281 men as compared with a crew of 189 men carried by the first Washington which after a gallant fight as a part of Arnold's fleet in the battle of Lake Champlain in 1776 was captured by the British. The first Washington's armament consisted of one 18 pounder, one 12-pounder, two 9 pounders and four 6 pounders as compared with the new battleship's eight 16 inch rifles and fourteen 5 inch guns.

The new Washington is the third of the four super-dreadnaughts or all big gun ships authorized in 1916 to be launched. Her sister ships are the Maryland commissioned in August, the Colorado launched in March and now about seventy-five per cent finished and the West Virginia, the completion of which according to navy department officials is indefinite due to curtailed appropriations.

Like her sister ships the new Washington will be electrically driven, the power being derived from two turbine generators of 18,000 horsepower each. The driving power will be applied directly to four propellers by four 8,000 horsepower motors. The application is to be made so that the propellers may be reversed almost instantly will full power.

The new dreadnaught has a length of 624 feet, breadth at the waterline 97 feet, draft 20.1 feet and a loaded displacement of 33,900 tons. Her plans call for a speed of twenty-one knots.

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

To say that I feel twenty-five years younger, twenty-five years healthier and twenty-five years stronger expresses what Tanlac has done for me better than any other way I can put it. I, George D. Shaw, veteran of the Civil War, who now lives at 321 Walnut street, Springfield, Mass.

I am now seventy-eight years old and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine so just. For fifteen years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I would have to lay in bed for a week or two. For a long time I lived on crackers and milk if not nothing else agreed with me.

When I started on Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and six pounds and my days were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully built up I now weigh one hundred and forty-three pounds and my stomach is as sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe I could eat the old army rations again without it hurting me in the least.

I never miss a chance of saving a good word for Tanlac and I would like to urge the boys on the Sixties who are not feeling right to give it a trial for I am sure it would put them in line again just as it has me. For a man of my age to have no physical ailment to be well and strong and enjoy life as he did twenty-five years ago is certainly something to be thankful for and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlac.

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

GRAVEL FOR ECONOMIC ROAD
Summary of Important Points Brought Out in Recent Address by Wisconsin Engineer.
Gravel roads are given a strong recommendation as economic highways by A. R. Hirst, Wisconsin state highway engineer. Not only so, but he is of the firm opinion that the economic service of a gravel road is proportionate to its width. In other words, if a gravel roadway 16 feet wide has a life or service of three to five years, then the addition of 10 feet will increase its serviceable life to six or possibly ten years.
"These figures are not definite," says Mr. Hirst, "they merely express the comparison which it is sought to emphasize. Moreover, this comparison does not hold true, nor is any broad assertion of the worth of gravel roads quite true unless there is continuous maintenance. Wherever gravel roads are giving notable service good maintenance is as much the reason as is good construction in the first place."
Mr. Hirst recently gave an important address on this subject and the following is a condensed summary of the main points in his discussion:
1. The prime factor in determining the relative service value of highways is whether they serve traffic effectively and inexpensively.
2. Preliminary traffic censuses are valueless as aids in pavement type selection.
3. Traffic counts have value only in giving information upon traffic changes, and operation costs over varying pavement surfaces.
4. What has been is no indication of what will be.
5. States must adopt uniform loads to be borne by roads of varying classes of importance.
6. All highways cannot be made 15-ton highways every day in the year.
7. Expressed in terms of real service value, type means little unless service is supplemented by proper design and layout.
8. The road problem is not to build a few boulevards but a transportation system.
9. We have thought too little about the basic function of highways—the offering of facilities for travel.
10. A striking feature of highway construction, reconstruction and maintenance has been an almost total disregard of comfort, convenience and economy of operation in the interests of the traveling public.
11. The one permanent thing about road work is proper grading on correct locations.
12. The highway user knows little about pavement economics; but he does know where and when he broke the last spring.
13. We have used too much mathematics and too little common sense.
14. Our owners demand service and service they must be given.
15. Maintenance is the key-stone of the entire structure of pavement service.

REMOVE BLOTS ON HIGHWAYS
National Association of Gardeners Passes Resolution Concerning Use of Billboards.
The National Association of Gardeners passed a resolution at its last meeting concerning the use of billboards on highways and private property. Let's have none of these signs, signs and more signs up on these places on our highways. Who can remove a tree that takes the place of a fence and trees near home? Let Roy L. Gage, association secretary, University City, Mo., be the one to do it.

Freckles and His Friends

Freckles Does His Work Well! By Blosser

Proper Maintenance Given to This Road.
lection of it is supplemented by proper design and layout.
8. The road problem is not to build a few boulevards but a transportation system.
9. We have thought too little about the basic function of highways—the offering of facilities for travel.
10. A striking feature of highway construction, reconstruction and maintenance has been an almost total disregard of comfort, convenience and economy of operation in the interests of the traveling public.
11. The one permanent thing about road work is proper grading on correct locations.
12. The highway user knows little about pavement economics; but he does know where and when he broke the last spring.
13. We have used too much mathematics and too little common sense.
14. Our owners demand service and service they must be given.
15. Maintenance is the key-stone of the entire structure of pavement service.

REMOVE BLOTS ON HIGHWAYS
National Association of Gardeners Passes Resolution Concerning Use of Billboards.
The National Association of Gardeners passed a resolution at its last meeting concerning the use of billboards on highways and private property. Let's have none of these signs, signs and more signs up on these places on our highways. Who can remove a tree that takes the place of a fence and trees near home? Let Roy L. Gage, association secretary, University City, Mo., be the one to do it.

OVERCOME BY HEAT.
John Bloodgood, 71 years old, one of the pioneer citizens of New Salem, was overcome by heat Wednesday afternoon while working on a farm west of the city, and for a time was in a critical condition. Yesterday, however, he was feeling easier and physicians believe he may recover.
Mr. Bloodgood, despite his advanced age, is an indefatigable worker and despite the heat Wednesday, which reached 101 degrees, insisted on doing farm work on the August Schedel place which he acquired about a week ago.
The Schedel farm with Mr. Bloodgood acquired recently, was purchased by him from the Burning Bush church of Waukesha, Wis. August Schedel was one of the converts to the religious sect whose activities created such a stir at New Salem early in the summer. Schedel is said to have donated his fine farm to the Burning Bushers.
WRECKS COUNTY JAIL.
Riot reignited at the jail grounds Wednesday night in the wild and dance hall at the end of the rough highway that has ever been set up in Mandan.
Charles Miller, a local man, insisted that he be given the right amount of change for a five dollar bill he collected was not changed correctly the night before. When he was refused he started to fight, which soon drew on the proportions of a gang fight. Both Mandan and Bismarck men were drawn in and a great many were bruised. When the fight subsided the officers took Miller to the county jail where he continued to fight, wounding the entire room.
In tearing things up he had pulled the water pipes out of the wall and while there were only a few other men in the building, they were taken up in other cells and a alarm bell was given to stop the flow of water which was running throughout the building. Finally when aid did arrive in about an hour there was about six inches of water on the ground floor of the building. Damage to the sheriff's living quarters in the front part of the building in addition to the workmen in the jail will amount to about $200.

Buy Red Crown

—the HIGH-GRADE GAS

To illustrate the fallacy of the gravity argument: It is only necessary to remember that the gravity of gasoline can be controlled if the quality is not considered. You know, of course, that gasoline is not an elementary compound like water. It is composed of innumerable compounds.

But, you may be surprised to know that every component part of gasoline has a different gravity, and every component part of gasoline has a close relation to its efficiency.

It is the proper and scientific grouping, or adjustment, of these parts that makes good gasoline.

Gravity is merely the comparison of the weight of a liquid with water. What the component parts weigh in relation to water means nothing, but the heat or energy which these component parts give off mean a lot.

RED CROWN Has a Perfect Chain of Boiling Point Fractions

It has the low initial for easy starting, the correct range for quick get-away, smooth acceleration, and tremendous power and speed.

There isn't a gap in the chain of boiling point fractions in Red Crown for a gap in the chain means a gap in the power.

Red Crown delivers the utmost in service all the time. It never varies no matter where you get it, and you can get it everywhere, every few blocks in the city, and every few miles in the country.

You are wasting money if you pay more for gasoline than the price of Red Crown.
